Control of County Board at Stake in Township Elections April 2; Group Will Reorganize

Clerks, Assessors,
Constables, J. P.s
Also to Be Named

Township elections are coming up in a little more than a week now and when the polls close at 5 p. m. on election day April 2 a new county board will have been elected.

There will be lots of the same faces on the board, but it will be a new body, with reorganization to be made at the April meeting.

All 13 townships will elect clerks, assessors, constables and justices of the peace. In addition, some will elect poundmasters and Harrisburg township will name a park board member.

Harrisburg, Carrier Mills, Long Branch, Brushy, Galatia and Rector townships will name members of the board of supervisors.

Eight Seek Re-Election

Control of the county board is at stake at the election because these six townships will elect 12 members of the 22 man board. The supervisors from Eldorado, Raleigh, Mountain, Stonefort, Cottage, Independence and Tate hold over for two more years because they were elected to four-year terms in 1955.

Of the 10 holdovers, six are Democrats and four are Republicans. Democrats are Aubrey Giles, Tom Maxwell, Ivan Wilson and Roy Moore of Eldorado, Bert Jones of Raleigh and Claude Moore of Mountain.

Republican holdovers are C. L. Blackman of Stonefort, A. K. Gates of Cottage, Herman McFarlin of Independence and Howard Patterson of Tate, the present board chairman.

Of the 12 members whose terms expire, eight are seeking re-election. They are Virgil Ferrell, William Douglas and Charles Skaggs, Harrisburg Republicans; Raymond Field and Charles Pritchett, Carrier Mills Republicans; Kenneth Jackson, Long Branch Republican; William Alfred Smith, Galatia Republican; and Lee Porter, Rector Democrat.

That means that the following board members are not seeking re-election: Harvey DeVar, John Lockwood and Vernon Smith, Harrisburg Republicans; and Waldo Abney, Brushy Democrat.

Candidates on Ballots

Joining Ferrell, Skaggs and Douglas in the Republican ticket are Jim Land, Dale Sullivan and Ewell Winkelman, and their six Democratic opponents will be Carl Tuttle, Dr. John Slightom, Jack Pallister, Alfred Johnson, Grover Dale Fulkerson and David H. Martin. Ferrell and Tuttle are the nominees for supervisor and the others are for the five assistant supervisor posts.

With Abney not seeking re-election, the candidates for supervisor in Brushy township are Robbie Hankins, Republican, and Bert Gogue, Democrat.

In Carrier Mills township Field, for supervisor, and Pritchett, for assistant supervisor, will be opposed by Earl Hancock, Democratic nominee for supervisor, and Weaver McNew for assistant supervisor.

Homes Involved
In Recent Sales

Two large houses in the same neighborhood have changed hands the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. (Pat) Sullivan have bought the Hensley property at Walnut and Webster streets and plan to make it into their residence.

This house, a large brick structure, is one of the oldest in Harrisburg. Mr. Sullivan said that he plans to restore the house to its early condition as much as possible.

He said that the porches would be removed, the house rewired, a furnace installed, the brick tuck-pointed and painted white, besides the work necessary to restore the interior of the residence.

The Sullivans plan to sell their present residence at 29 West Mabel street.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Nyberg are buying the Oral P. Tuttle residential property at 118 West Walnut street. Mr. Nyberg said he expected the papers in the transaction to be recorded by the end of the month. The family will move into the new home in about three weeks.

Stefko is Freed on Bond

Arrested After Failing to Appear for Trial Wednesday

NEW SHAWNEETOWN, Ill. — Paul Stefko, the mayor of Old Shawneetown, was released this morning from the Gallatin county jail at New Shawneetown on $2,000 bond.

Stefko was arrested in Old Shawneetown late Wednesday by Sheriff Millard Holloway and Deputy Sheriff Jim Fox on a bench warrant issued by Joseph Hale, Gallatin county judge, after Stefko failed to appear for trial Wednesday morning.

Stefko hired William Phillips, Shawneetown attorney to represent him when he appeared in county court Thursday morning and asked for a change of venue. He is charged with resisting arrest and aiding a prisoner to escape.

It was learned that Judge Hale has selected a new judge, County Judge Max Endicott of White county, to hear the case, and that he probably will not appear in court at Shawneetown for a week to set the date of trial and amount of bond.

Stefko told officers he spent Wednesday sitting in the waiting room of Gov. William G. Stratton but failed to see the governor.

One of Stratton's secretaries said Thursday that a man who said he was the mayor of Old Shawneetown asked to see the governor Wednesday afternoon. However the governor was out of town and the secretary suggested the man return Thursday when Stratton holds his weekly open house. The secretary quoted the man as saying he couldn't return Thursday.

Five Others Hurt
In Auto Crash

Accident Occurs
On Route 37
Near Goreville

James E. Reed, 39, Marion insurance agent who is a former well-known citizen of Carrier Mills, and five other persons were injured at 4:45 p. m. yesterday in a crash of two automobiles on Route 37 a mile and a half north of Goreville.

Although all six were hospitalized, it was believed there were no critical injuries.

Reed, who was driving alone in a northerly direction at the time of the crash, was taken to Marion Memorial hospital suffering multiple cuts about the face and cuts and abrasions about the body.

The other auto, going south, was driven by Jimmy Don Dennis, 24, of Route 1, LaCenter, Ky., and his passengers were Kenneth D. Burnett, 21, Royal Kendall, 36, and W. R. Hall, 47, all of Cairo and James S. Hinkle, 42, of Barlow, Ky.

The first three were taken to Marion Memorial hospital and Hinkle and Hall were hospitalized at Marion Veterans hospital. It was reported that the five were construction workers employed on building the Olin-Mathieson factory in Williamson county en route to their homes.

State Policeman Marion Troutt of Vienna told the United Press that the crash occurred when Dennis pulled out to pass a car.

New Well Opens
'Hot' Oil Field

MARION, Ill. — An oil drilling company official said Thursday prospects are bright for a new oil field in northeast Williamson county.

F. M. Minor, drilling superintendent for the Don Slape Drilling Co., Olney, predicts that a well brought in Wednesday near Corinth will produce from 1,000 to 1,200 barrels a day. If it does, it will be Williamson county's first major oil strike.

Minor said Ward Dayton, Chicago, an independent oil producer, is financing the venture. About 160 acres are under lease by the drilling company and more wells are planned.

Minor said it would be a week to 10 days before the value of the well is definitely known.

He said his production estimate is based on oil and gas tests in the McCloskey Lime at from 3,034-to-3,042 feet and on a bottom hole pressure of 1,300 pounds.

"It has the prospects of being a 'hot' field," said Minor.

Other companies are also drilling in the area.

Daley Among Heroes

Chicago City Hall Damaged by Fire

CHICAGO — Mayor Richard J. Daley was among the heroes Thursday night in a fire that destroyed the ornate council chambers of Chicago's City Hall, routing some 130 persons and causing $250,000 damage.

Daley, who was working late in his office, led a charwoman trapped by dense smoke to safety. Firemen carried about 30 other persons from the burning 50-year-old structure, and another 100 escaped down stairways.

The five-alarm fire was turned in at 6:20 p. m. by none other than city Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn, who was in his office when he saw the glow of flames reflected from a nearby hotel window.

Thirty-nine pieces of fire equipment raced to the building in the heart of the Loop. The blaze attracted between 7,000 and 10,000 spectators, police estimated.

Extra police squads were called to cordon off the shopping and nightclub area. The Sherman Hotel, across the street from the City Hall, was forced to lock its doors at one time to prevent the throngs from rushing into the lobby.

Firemen battled the blaze for an hour and a half, confining the flames to the second floor council chambers, aldermanic rooms and offices along the north-west corner of the second and third floors.

Daley was at his desk near the oak-paneled council chamber when a secretary told him the building was on fire. Daley found

Dallas Tucker Assumes Duties as Conservation Aid in County Office

Dallas G. Tucker, who operates his farm near Broughton in the Hamburg community, began his work on Monday in the soil conservation service here. He is serving as conservation aid to Tom Morgan, Work Unit Conservationist of Saline county.

His duties will be concerned for the greater part with the engineering and designing of conservation practices. He will advise farmers as to the best use of their land and in cases where the terrain is too rough for crops and grasses, he will recommend that the farmer adopt a tree farm program and he will refer such woodland programs to the Department of Conservation, Division of Forestry, at 15½ N. Main street.

The overall program of the work unit conservationist is the planning of crop rotations and land use. Particularly interesting are the water disposal systems, drains, deviations of water streams and tiling of the land. Contour planting and the establishment of farm ponds also comes under this planning.

Mr. Tucker and Mrs. Tucker, the former Lucille Bare, have many friends in Harrisburg and will be welcomed here.

Mr. Morgan announces that beginning next week, there will be a day when either he or Mr. Tucker will be in the conservation office to answer questions for those seeking their aid. He has been concerned about the amount of time when his work takes him into the fields and he has had to be away from the office so he has set aside Thursday of each week as his day in the office at the city hall.

Dallas G. Tucker

Eldoradoan
Dies in Auto

Inquest Will Be Held to Determine
Cause of Death of Floyd Tapley

Floyd Tapley, who resided at 2201 Main street in Eldorado, died yesterday and an inquest will be held in an attempt to determine whether death was from natural causes or from injuries received when his auto smashed into a brick cellar near downtown Eldorado.

Ralph Bean, Saline county deputy coroner, said that Mr. Tapley, 52-year-old member of the Operating Engineers union, was driving alone in a westerly direction on Jackson street when his car left the pavement between the Edgar Yocum residence and Second street, went through the yard, made a circle between the Yocum residence and a house occupied by Lillie Tate and crashed into the brick cellar.

Bean said three or four witnesses saw Tapley slumped at the wheel as the auto took the strange course through the yard. He was dead when removed from the car. There were head injuries and possible chest injuries sustained in the crash, he stated.

The deputy coroner said that Mr. Tapley was in an automobile collision in December and since then had suffered blackout spells. There will be an inquest into the death but the date has not yet been set, he stated.

The body was removed to the Bean and Tanner funeral home, where it will lie in state. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Survivors include his wife, Fern; his father, Herman Tapley of St. Louis; his mother, Mrs. Nellie Tapley of Elgin, Ill.; four children, Paul and Clifford Tapley of Thebes, Ill., Mrs. Elsie Butcher of Hialeah, Fla., and Everett "Buddy" Tapley in the Army in Germany; three stepchildren, Mary Helen Burroughs of St. Louis, Mrs. Joan Gail Johnson of Eldorado and Charles Burroughs of Eldorado; four brothers, Homer of Cypress, Ill., Leon and Phillip of East St. Louis and Lawrence J. Gary, Ind.; and three sisters, Mrs. Grace Detweiler of Marina, Calif., Mrs. Dolly Patterson of Metropolis and Mrs. Mildred Terpin of St. Louis.

Little Hopes
For Survivors in Stormy Waters

Transport Was On Routine Ferrying Flight to Japan

TOKYO (UP) — A U. S. military transport plane with 67 persons aboard fell today into the shark-infested waters of Japan where winds of near-typhoon force lashed the sea into giant waves that hurled spray hundreds of feet into the air.

All aboard were feared dead. Brief hopes for the 10 crew members and 57 passengers aboard the huge C97 Boeing Stratocruiser were dashed when a sighted "life raft" turned out to be an overturned rowboat with a straw mat floating beside it. The sighting led an Air Force spokesman to say "hopes are very high."

But a senior Air Force pilot said "it would have been damned near impossible to make a successful ditching under the conditions—the plane would just break to pieces in high seas like this."

Latest In Series

Disappearance of the plane brought to 109 the number of dead or missing in a series of six U. S. Far Eastern crashes the past month.

The Air Force and Navy joined in a search for possible survivors. It appeared a hopeless task at first, for solid clouds rose from the surface of the sea to a height of 5,000 feet.

The search area itself was vast—36,000 square miles.

Air Force officials said ditching a plane on the sea even under the best conditions is a hazardous undertaking. Winds of more than 50 knots lashed the sea when the Military Air Transport Service craft disappeared 90 minutes from its destination on a flight from Wake Island to Japan.

The Air Force was mystified as to why the big plane disappeared. The Air Craft Commander, Maj. Ardis L. Crumpton, of Vacaville, Calif., radioed he was flying at 8,000 feet and that the plane was in "A1 condition." Then the plane just disappeared.

Woman Among Crew

An Air Force spokesman said the plane from the 1501st Air Transport Wing at Travis Air Base, Calif., carried two women, one a member of the crew, the other a Navy dependent. In addition, there were 9 other crewmen, 27 airmen, 7 Army men, 10 sailors and two male civilian employees.

The $1.1 million plane was making a routine ferrying flight to Japan. Its last report came when it was barely 250 miles southeast of Tokyo. The Air Force knew only it must be down somewhere along the route.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Relations Between Ike And British Were Out Of Sync; Ike Once Left Churchill In Bermuda In Tears; British Press Now Talks Of "Fading" Eisenhower.

WASHINGTON. — President Eisenhower can look back on a long period of ups and downs in British relations as he confers with Prime Minister Macmillan in Bermuda. He can look back to the summer of 1944 when he lived in a pleasant headquarters camp outside London and spent long hours planning the invasion of Normandy. He can look back, too, to the crowds in the streets of London giving him a hero's welcome as he came back from the wars—Londoners standing for hours to get a glimpse of the man who ran the Nazis out of Europe—standing on the Guildhall balcony beside crusty, unsmiling Winston Churchill, promising that the United States and England would build for peace together, forever . . .
And he can look back to pleasant trips to Scotland for grouse shooting after the war when he was stationed in Germany. The Scots even gave him part of a castle where he could relax any time he wanted — a gift for life from the grateful people of Scotland . . .
And he can look back at the day when he marched with other cap-and-gowned dignitaries to receive an honorary degree from ancient Oxford University; and to a myriad other pleasant associations with a country grateful to a soldier.

Ike and Churchill — Came the day when Eisenhower was about to become President of the United States. He began to receive little chits from his old friend Winston Churchill — also transatlantic phone calls. Churchill had kept up a steady stream of correspondence across the Atlantic with Franklin Roosevelt. Winning the war became a sort of partnership, a joint enterprise between them.
Never had the Anglo-American alliance been firmer . . . Relations simmered a bit under Truman and Attlee. Prime Minister Attlee, a Laborite, didn't camp out in the White House with the Trumans the way Churchill had clumped up and down White House stairs corridors in his bedroom slippers, his crimson and gold kimono half-draped around his nude and cherublike torso . . . So with Ike about to enter the White House, Churchill expected the cozy relations of war days to resume. He was so eager that he insisted on coming to see Ike two weeks before he was sworn in as President. The new president-elect was cordial, but the relationship was different from those halcyon hero days right after the war. Churchill was no longer giving suggestions to a military man. He was talking to a President of the United States.
This time Ike was on his own . . .
Also the grand old man of England was pushing 80 and getting quite deaf. It was a strain to talk to him.

The First Bermuda Conference
— Churchill had a great ambition — to hold a Big 3 conference with Soviet Russia—to patch up the peace of the world. The new President didn't like the idea, but Churchill kept hammering it home, until finally he induced Ike to meet him again in Bermuda in December 1953 for further discussion . . . Ike will be looking back on that too as he meets this week with another prime minister of England. But one thing he may not have known was that when he, Eisenhower, departed Bermuda he left his old friend in tears . . .
Churchill had planned a dramatic session which he would dominate.
The President cut short that session abruptly, flew to New York to address the United Nations on atoms-for-peace. It took the headlines completely away from his old wartime friend, the fading, aging prime minister of England.

Broken Eden—There are other things Ike will be looking back on as he meets once again in Bermuda to consider the badly run-tured Anglo-American alliance. He can look back on the night of November 5 last year, one night before the election, when he telephoned another prime minister of England and told Sir Anthony Eden to get his troops out of Suez
. . . It was reported in London that he had used barracks-room language—a report denied by the White House. The fact was that he did. He spoke to the prime minister as the executive of one country seldom speaks to another . . .

Eden was sick at the time. Within two minutes he had called Premier Mollet in Paris and told him England was withdrawing. Mollet tried to argue. But Eden was a broken, beaten man . . . At the cabinet meeting which followed, he collapsed. It began the end of his brief term as prime minister of England, an office for which he had studied, trained, and coveted for half a lifetime.

All these things figure in the background of Bermuda. For treaties and alliances are not made of beribboned parchment.
They are built on human relations
— the respect of leaders for each other, the friendship of peoples for each other, the cultural exchanges between one country and another . . . what the newspapers of one country say about another help to build or break alliances more than the way diplomats raise their glasses to toast each other.
What presidents take offense at, what irks prime ministers, can affect alliances more than treaties . . . Today the climate for alliances is not too good . . . There was a day when the American public talked about a fading Churchill. Today the British press talks about the fading Eisenhower . . . "I have to report a well-loved man is slowly fading," cabled Reng MacColl from New York to Lord Beaverbrook's potent London Express. "The picture has changed," he cabled in three-column headlines. "The legend is becoming blurred. The hero is proving fallible. Grumbles are replacing the cheers."

That is the setting in which the two most important leaders of the free world negotiate to try to continue a partnership pledged to keep the world free.

Nasser Star Waning

Nixon Reports Wide Approval Of Eisenhower Plan in Mid East

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has brought back strong evidence from Africa that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's star is waning among Arab leaders, informed sources said today.

However, they said Nasser's influence still remains great with the Arab masses.

Nixon, who returned Thursday from a triumphant 19,000-mile swing across Africa, called on all "interested nations" to provide greater economic and political contributions to bring about a long-range peace settlement in the troubled Middle East.

Nixon found wide approval during his 22-day tour of President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine and its aim of strengthening Middle Eastern nations economically and politically so they will not fall under the domination of either Russia or Egypt.

The vice president, who viewed his trip to eight African nations as laying the groundwork for closer U. S. relations with Africa, gained a first-hand impression of the problems facing the area.

He was said to be dissatisfied with certain U. S. policies and personnel there and will make recommendations which may lead to a diplomatic shakeup.

Nixon said he did not bring back any "dramatic new approach to the Mideast problem. But he said he will make specific recommendations in a report to President Eisenhower.

The vice president discussed the Israeli-Arab issue with leaders in Morocco, the Sudan, Libya, Ethiopia and Tunisia. He said responsible Arab leaders recognize that Israel is here to stay.

He said the problem of Arab leaders was complicated by the insistence of their people that "Israel must go." But he said the leaders realize it is "unreasonable" to think Israel can be wiped out as a political entity. Nasser long has called for the elimination of the Jewish state.

CHICAGO, Ill. — "I was told by a friend that Renna Concentrate was good for reducing. I bought a bottle and now I'm recommending Renna to friends. I was hardly able to tie my shoes as my stomach was in the way. From 150 to 175 in 6 weeks time is my story. While following the Renna home recipe I ate well and felt excellent all the time. I was reducing Renna. It is truly a safe, safe, easy way to reduce and it cost little." So writes R. M. Bradley of 4118 N. Damen. Get Renna at your drug store.

Jurors Award Double
Indemnity to Woman
Who Shot Husband

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) — A circuit court jury has ruled that Mrs.
Gladys Wylie, 47, Leonore, should get double indemnity on the insurance policy of her husband, Leslie, whom she shot to death in 1954.

The jurors decided Thursday in favor of a suit Mrs. Wylie filed against the Union Casualty and Life Insurance Co., Mount Vernon, N. Y. The suit asked for $2,500 plus 5 per cent interest to cover the time lapse since the shooting in June, 1954.

At the time, a coroner's jury

Wintry Storm to Hit Midwest Areas

By United Press
Heavy snow blanketed portions of three western states today and weathermen warned a full-scale wintry storm will blow into the northern Plains and the Midwest.

The western storm hit Cedar City, Utah, and Douglas, Wyo., with an accumulation of three inches Thursday night and early today.

West Yellowstone, Mont., reported an 8-inch snowfall, boosting its total on the ground to a depth of 52 inches.

Forecasters warned heavy snow will slip into northwest Kansas and western Nebraska this afternoon and continue tonight.

The storm is expected to spread into eastern South Dakota, portions of North Dakota and Minnesota by Saturday. Strong northerly winds will cause drifting throughout the area, the Weather Bureau said.

On Chilean sheep farms at the Strait of Magellan, the most serious losses are caused by thick fleeces. In rainy weather the wool becomes so wet and heavy that a sheep that rolls on its back may be unable to regain its feet. There it lies, until rescue or death.

ruled that Wylie's death was justifi-fiable homicide and the insurance company paid Mrs. Wylie a flat $2,500.

Mrs. Wylie through her attorney, contended that double indemnity was entitled her because her husband did not anticipate his death, and, therefore, it was accidental.

Conquered Cyprus
Richard the Lionhearted seized Cyprus during the Third Crusade to save his fiancée, Berengaria, from capture. Later wed to Richard, she became Queen of England.

who passed away March 22nd, 1956.

Miner Fatally Stricken at Mine Near Du Quoin

DU QUOIN, Ill. (P)—Authorities are investigating the death of a man at a coal mine here Thursday. Dewitt T. Wilson, 48, Murphysboro, was stricken while working underground at the new Kathleen Mine of the Union Colliery Co. Miners gave him artificial respiration in a vain attempt to revive him.

Wilson, a driller, was substituting as a cutting machine operator, authorities said.

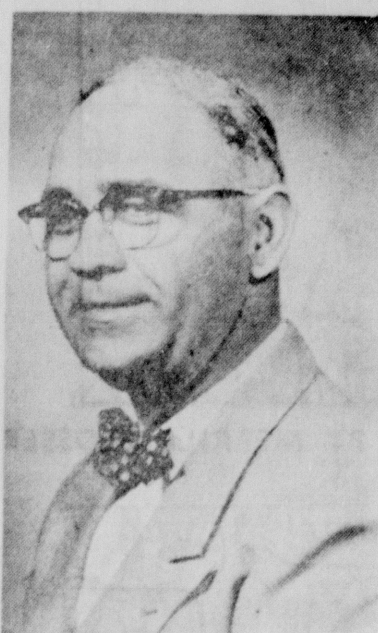

A company spokesman said Wilson apparently suffered a heart attack.

Acting Coroner Eugene Gladson said he is checking to see if the death might have been accidental.

Brazil's Name

Brazil was so called from the name given by its Portuguese colonizers to a red dye wood, pau-brasil. Its color suggested live coals, or "brasas" in Portuguese.

Revival to Begin at Junction Missionary Baptist Church Monday

Rev. Raymond W. Farrar

A 12-day revival opens at the Missionary Baptist church in Junction Monday night, Eugene Allen, pastor, announces. It will continue each evening at 7:30 through April 5.

The Rev. Raymond W. Farrar, pastor of the Earl Street Baptist Chapel, Henderson, Ky., is to be the evangelist. He held pastorates at Alto Pass and Makanda while attending Southern Illinois University of which he is a graduate.

He reports that he has a sincere desire to have the young people attend the services and plans to have something of special interest for them almost every night of the revival.

The pastor extends an invitation to everyone to attend.

Special Easter Play April 17 Over WSIL-TV

A unique, deeply-moving TV presentation for the Easter season will be a special "Passion Play" episode in "This Is The Life," to be telecast on WSIL-TV at 9:30 p. m. on Wednesday, April 17.

A departure from the contemporary drama form of "the world's most televised program," this special play re-enacts the full Easter story of the Last Supper, the Trial and Crucifixion, and the Resurrection of Jesus.

The unusual half-hour television program is vividly portrayed as the story of Thomas, the apostle who doubted Christ's resurrection and then gained convincing proof. Condemned to death for his faith, Thomas gives strength to his fellow prisoners with a recounting of the inspiring Easter message.

Dramatically recreating the events of Christ's last days on earth, the unique episode of "This Is The Life" presents a special Hollywood cast with authenticated Biblical settings and costumes. The moving episode was produced by the Lutheran-Church-Missouri Synod and is returned for the Easter season by popular demand.

Non-denominational in presentation, the nationally known "This Is The Life" TV series regularly offers half-hour dramatic episodes of modern-day problems as a guide to happier living through the message of Christianity. The program has received numerous awards and the praise of ministers as well as members of many other denominations.

TAXES BY THE MINUTE—The average worker, who makes $12 a day, pays out $3.65 in taxes, according to Rep. Noah M. Mason (R-Ill.) in his breakdown of the eight-hour earning day. The tax bite is the largest single item of daily expense and requires more than a fourth of the working day to meet. Newschart shows how long the average worker must labor to pay for other living expenses. Mason cited the figures in calling for a slash in the administration's peacetime record 71.8 billion dollar fiscal 1958 budget.

Jagger came storming into the real estate office. Savagely he threw the crumpled newspaper into Morgan's face. He followed through with a smashing blow that caught Morgan flush on the jaw and knocked him backwards over the chair.

Morgan hit the floor heavily, rolled over and got to his knees. In that position he shook his head to clear away the haze before his eyes and stared up at Joe Jagger. "Get up!" yelled Jagger. "Get up and take the beating I should have given you long ago."

The man who took care of the real estate office stepped into the breach. "Mr. Jagger," he began, "stop—"

Jagger gave the man a back-handed blow that sent him spinning. He stepped in swiftly to meet Morgan, as the latter came to his feet. Another savage blow caught Morgan squarely in the mouth, crushing his lips. He tasted blood, gasped as Jagger's left caught him in the stomach and bent him forward.

A roaring filled Morgan's ears. He had as yet landed no blow on Jagger and it was doubtful if he would be able to do so; Jagger's sudden, murderous attack had virtually incapacitated him. He was only vaguely aware that he had thrown up his hands instinctively, but a sharp pain suddenly shot up his arm into his shoulder. He was not even aware that he had lashed out at Jagger, but there was a moment's respite of Jagger's savage attack and Morgan gasped in great lungfuls of air.

Then Jagger was back at him. A jolting blow struck him in the stomach, a fist crashed him on the side of his head. He staggered against the wall, ricocheted off it into another crashing fist.

He saw Jagger closing in; he struck out, knew that he had reached Jagger's face and hit again—and again. Jagger gave way before him and Morgan was suddenly doing the crowding.

The blows delivered by Morgan were bruising, but were delivered by a weakened man. Jagger retreated a few steps, then with his back almost in the open doorway, he made a sudden stand. He took a blow in the face, then suddenly threw out both hands and wrapped them about Morgan, trying to wrestle him to the floor.

Morgan knew that he had already taken too much of a beating to match his strength against that of Joe Jagger. By a tremendous pull, he got one arm free, thrust the heel of his palm under Jagger's chin and pushed with all his strength.

Jagger's breath began to labor. With a sudden cry he released Morgan and lowering his head, tried to butt him. He did not know that he had turned Morgan completely around in the struggle, that it was now Morgan's back that was toward the open door.

Morgan, trying to leap aside, took the butt upon his hip. Jagger caromed from him, went out through the open door headfirst.

He landed heavily on the wooden sidewalk in front of the office. Morgan followed and as Jagger climbed to his feet he sent a smashing blow into Jagger's face that sent the man back against the hitchrail. He came away from the rail, ran headlong into Morgan's fists.

Jagger was down then on both knees. Morgan, neglecting to step back, found his knees suddenly grabbed by Jagger and then he, too, crashed to the wooden sidewalk. Jagger swarmed over him. Morgan squirmed out from under, took a knee in the pit of his stomach and rolled aside. Jagger followed him and again caught Morgan. Clinched together, the two rolled over and over under the hitchrail, out into the dust of the street.

The struggle was too savage to last much longer. Morgan, tearing loose from Jagger, found he was so weakened that he could not rise. On his knees, he waited for Jagger to rise. Jagger came up, lurched toward Morgan and the latter hit him with his last ounce of strength.

Jagger went over sideways, kicked once and lay still.

It was another moment or two before Morgan could raise his head. He saw then that at least 50 citizens of Pawnee City had crowded around and were silently watching him.

It was Fesler, the newspaperman, who stepped out of the crowd. "Nice fight," he commented laconically.

"Your fault," panted Morgan. "I take it your friend didn't like the piece about the city government," chuckled Fesler.

"I didn't like it either," snapped Morgan, "using my name as a candidate without telling me about it."

"Oh, that!" said Fesler.

Jagger was moving. A groan came from him and Morgan dropped to one knee to try to turn Jagger over on his back. He was in that position when Helen Jagger came rushing up.

Her face was white, drained of all blood; her eyes were flashing like the eyes of a cornered bobcat.

"Get away from him!" she said savagely. "Take your dirty hands away from him."

Morgan rocked back on his heels. "He started the fight, Helen—"

She gave him a look of utter loathing and contempt. "I hate you!" she said through clenched teeth.

She dropped to her knees, slipped one hand under Jagger's head. "Joe," she sobbed, as Morgan turned away.

Two SIU Coeds To Study in Peru

CARBONDALE, Illinois — Two Southern Illinois University coeds departed today for Lima, Peru, for nine months of study at San Marcos University under a Benjamin Franklin scholarship from that institution. They are Marge Kloeckner, sophomore from Germantown, and Betty Seip, Thebes, a graduate student who has been teaching for the last two and one-half years. Both are majors in Spanish. While studying at San Marcos University they will teach English language at Colegio Peruano - Norteamericano "Benjamin Franklin."

Miss Seip has been teaching for the past six months at Carrollton, Ill. Her other two years of teaching were at Bath, Ill. The Benjamin Franklin scholarships, provided for selected Spanish majors at SIU, were established by Victor Moya-Mendez, Peruvian educator and former SIU student. A University of Michigan study indicates that three of four American adults have never taken an air trip, half have never been more than 100 miles by bus, 30 per cent have never traveled by train and 11 per cent have never traveled more than 100 miles by auto.

Juvenile Delinquency was the subject of a panel discussion in which three Saline county officers participated last night at the Lincoln School PTA meeting in Eldorado.

Senate Passes Banking Bill

Federal Measure Is Outgrowth of Hodge Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed a bill to streamline the federal banking laws.

The Senate voted the bill Thursday by voice vote after defeating two moves to write in provisions bringing bank mergers under the antitrust statutes. It was sent to the House.

Approval of the measure, drafted over a period of months by a Senate Banking subcommittee, came after a week of off-and-on debate. A number of attempts to amend it were defeated although the Senate wrote in two proposals growing out of the state auditor embezzlement scandal in Illinois last year.

The Senate rejected, 58-27, an amendment by Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) that would have retained the present provision in the federal banking laws permitting "cumulative voting" by stockholders.

Under the bill, banks could decide whether to permit stockholders to cast all their votes for one director if they chose. The old law requires them to permit such voting if a stockholder wants to cast his ballot that way.

Earlier this week the Senate approved an amendment to require disclosure of bank stock ownership to a supervisory agency. Another amendment would limit campaign contributions by banks and bankers to political candidates.

These were an outgrowth of the $2.5 million embezzlement scandal in which former Illinois State Auditor Orville Hodge went to jail.

The limit on political contributions would not apply to bona fide gifts to political committee organized under state law to support a general ticket in an election.

Issue Fraudulent Check Complaint

Talks at Bermuda

Eisenhower Says U. S. Willing To Join Baghdad Military Pact

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—President Eisenhower today informed British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan that the United States was willing to join the military phase of the Baghdad Pact.

The Arab nations, it was announced, have been advised of the new American position through a presidential mission now in the Middle East.

The President gave the same news to Macmillan and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd here today.

A spokesman said the United States already was a member of the pact's economic and counter-subversive committees. With the latest development it would now belong to all three committees. Pact members are the United Kingdom, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan, and Turkey.

The President and Macmillan spent most of the morning exploring the Anglo-American views on European integration, relations with the Soviet Union and a possible increase in trade with Communist China.

There was no change in the American position against recognition of Red China or her admission to the United Nations.

Man Wanted for Eldorado Burglary Held in Missouri

Deputy Sheriff Jeff Stricklin today reported that Donald King, 25, Eldorado, wanted on a warrant charging he burglarized the Eldorado Locker Co. grocery the night of Feb. 28, is being held by officers at Kennett, Mo.

Local officers were told that King refuses to waive extradition. State's Attorney Robert V. Wilson said that if this is the case he will take measures to extradite the man.

King was named by Leroy and James Dooley, Eldorado brothers, as being with them when they stole 54 cartons of cigarettes, and a quantity of cigars, tobacco, chewing gum and candy from the store. The Dooley brothers were arrested in Columbia, Tenn., after a tavern disturbance while they were en route to Florida.

Chanute General Is Reassigned

CHANUTE AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP)—Air Force authorities today announced reassignment of Brig. Gen. A. M. Minton, Chanute commander for the past two years, as assistant chief of staff for Air Force installations at the Air Force headquarters in Washington.

Brig. Gen. Andrew W. Kinney, 42, who for the past year has been director of public information at the Air Force headquarters at the Pentagon will succeed Minton early in June.

Cost of Living Again Jumps

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living jumped 4 of 1 per cent in February, setting a new record for the sixth straight month, the government reported today.

Higher prices for food, housing costs, gasoline, and a number of other items boosted the Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer price index to 118.7 per cent of average 1947-49 prices. The index stood 3.6 per cent higher than in February, 1956.

The BLS also reported that the cost of living jump brought a slight decline in the buying power of the average factory worker's pay check. It said the increased prices more than offset a small rise in the average factory worker's take-home pay.

However, the increase in the price index meant cost of living pay increases of 1 to 2 cents an hour for 135,000 workers, mostly in the aircraft industry, whose wage contracts carry escalator clauses tied to the index for February.

Seeks Judgment For Commission in Real Estate Sale

Charging he had an agreement to handle the sale of some farm property, J. M. Overton, Eldorado real estate broker, has filed a lawsuit in circuit court seeking a judgment of $2,850 from George and Etha Quick.

The complaint, filed for Overton by Atty. Trafton Dennis and Atty. Harry McCabe, declares the plaintiff and defendants entered a written agreement Feb. 14, 1956, in which the defendants employed Overton to procure a purchaser for the real estate within two months at a price of $30,000.

It says the real estate was not sold during the period and contends an oral agreement was entered into on April 28, 1956, extending the original pact with the purchase price to be $33,000 for 275 acres.

The complaint asserts that the plaintiff performed his part in the agreement by getting a purchaser but thereafter the defendants sold the property for $34,200.

It asks for five per cent commission on the $33,000, or $1,650, plus the $1,200 over the $33,000 figure, or a total of $2,850.

Study Possible Vaccine Allocation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government was studying today a possible return to its voluntary rationing system as a way to deal with the sudden shortage of Salk polio vaccine.

Officials of the U. S. Public Health Service said they are considering an allocation plan to make sure the vaccine goes to those who need it—chiefly children and pregnant women.

Brewster Says He Opposes Free Beck Loans

Teamster Official Is Arraigned on Contempt Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—West Coast Teamsters boss Frank W. Brewster told the Senate Rackets Committee today he personally disapproves of Teamsters' President Dave Beck's action in borrowing $300,000 to $400,000 from the union without interest.

Brewster resumed testimony before the committee shortly after being arraigned in Federal Court on contempt of Congress charges. He was released on $1,000 bond for trial May 20.

Brewster said he has borrowed "pretty close to $90,000" from the union himself. But he said he paid interest and has now repaid the loans.

Signs of Revolt

Brewster pleaded not guilty at his arraignment before Federal Judge Charles F. McLaughlin. The contempt charge against him resulted from his refusal last January to answer questions on the Senate investigating subcommittee, also headed by McClellan. He said that committee lacked legal authority to probe into union affairs.

Two of Brewster's union colleagues were arraigned at the same time on the same charge and also pleaded not guilty. They were Nugent Lapoma, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 174 in Seattle, and Einar O. Mohn of Chevy Chase, Md., an international vice president.

The judge issued a bench warrant for a fourth Teamsters official, Harry Reiss of Local 227 in New York, who also was to have been arraigned but did not show up.

The big Teamsters Union was stirring with signs of rank and file revolt against its bosses.

Four Killed in Crash of B47

PINECASTLE AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—A B47 stratojet bomber crashed near here shortly before dawn today, killing all four crewmen.

The public information office at this Strategic Air Command base said the sleek medium bomber fell to earth and burned about 1 1/2 miles from the south runway.

Base officials said the $1,900,000 craft of the 321st Bombardment Wing was on a routine training mission. They did not specify if the plane was landing or taking off at the time. Cause of the crash could not be learned immediately.

Quadruplets Born To Mother of Five

MONTREAL (AP)—Quadruplets—three girls and a boy—were reported in good condition today in a suburban hospital where their birth to a 34-year-old woman with five other children was described as a million-to-one shot.

The mother, Mrs. Audrey Munro, was said to be resting comfortably in St. Joseph's hospital in nearby Lachine where the babies were born without complications Thursday. They were placed in one double and two single incubators.

The father, William Munro, 34, is a sales estimator for a construction company.

Marion Auto Mechanics Strike

MARION, Ill. (AP)—Some 70 mechanics in Marion have gone on strike and are picketing automobile agencies.

A spokesman for auto dealers said the mechanics, members of Local 310, International Association of Machinists, have asked an hourly wage increase of 15 cents, a guarantee of $70 a week and double time for all work over 48 hours.

An IAM spokesman said the dealers have offered a 10-cent hourly increase. The mechanics' contract with the dealers expired March 4.

Florida Teachers Protest Governor's Cook, Housekeeper Salaries

TALLAHASSEE, Florida (AP)—Eighty Florida teachers were indignant today over the $3,800 annual salaries asked for a cook and for a housekeeper at the state executive mansion.

They wrote Gov. Leroy Collins, "We should like to remind you that the average beginning salary of a four-year college graduate who teaches in Florida is less than $3,000 a year."

The teachers of Lake Wales, Fla., added, "Many other of our teachers who have been teaching for more than 10 years make no more than you are requesting for your cook and housekeeper."

Cardinals Thump Yankees, 9-2; Reds Slam Robin Roberts, Phillies, 13-10

By United Press
California fans, who hope to have major league baseball within three years, get a look at the brand of game they're bidding for in exhibitions tonight at San Francisco and San Diego.

The San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League open a three-game series with the Boston Red Sox and expect to draw about 20,000 fans for each contest. The Cleveland Indians and New York Giants carry their pre-season rivalry into San Diego tonight.

The games come on the heels of an announcement that San Francisco and Los Angeles have joined forces in an all-out drive to lure major league teams to California. Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco and Mayor

Norris Poulson met Thursday to plan strategy to bring big league baseball first to Los Angeles and then to San Francisco.

Yanks Trampled Again
Meanwhile, back at the Florida training "ranches," National League teams continued to make merry at the expense of the world champion New York Yankees. The Cincinnati Redlegs thumped the Yankees and Don (No Hit) Larsen, 20-6, on Wednesday and the St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of three errors to whip the champions Thursday, 9-2.

St. Louis took a 4-2 lead against Johnny Pate in the first seven innings and scored five runs in the eighth off Ralph Terry. The Yankees, playing without Mickey Mantle, got only five hits off Herman Wehmeier, Larry Jackson and Hoyt Wilhelm. Mantle has a bruised left thumb.

Charley Neal and Don Zimmer, who are trying to win regular jobs with the Dodgers, hit two-run homers in the seventh inning at Miami as Brooklyn rallied to whip the Kansas City Athletics in a night game, 6-3.

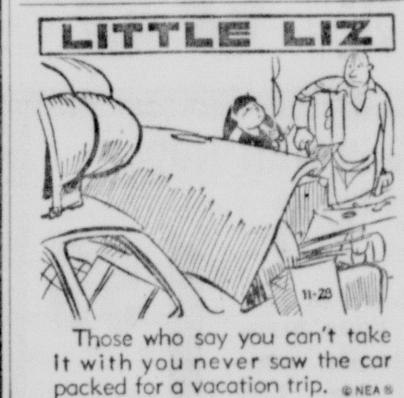

Cincinnati, fresh from the battering it gave Larsen, gave Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies the same treatment Thursday at Clearwater. The Redlegs slammed Roberts, one of baseball's finest pitchers, for 14 hits and seven runs in five innings en route to a 13-10 victory. George Crowe got five of the Redlegs' 22 hits total.

Braves Also Blast Away
At Tampa, shortstop Johnny Logan and outfielder Wes Covington each hit three homers and accounted for all the Milwaukee runs as the Braves defeated the Chicago White Sox, 10-7.

At Lakeland, Frank Lary tossed six scoreless innings and second baseman Frank Bolling drove in five runs with a three-run homer and a two-run triple to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 9-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

Eddie Bressoud's triple and Ossie Virgil's sacrifice fly enabled the Giants to edge the Baltimore Orioles, 2-1, at Scottsdale, Ariz.

At Mesa, Ariz., shortstop Ernie Banks, making his first appearance of the spring after nursing a sore arm, included two homers among his four hits to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 5-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Those who say you can't take it with you never saw the car packed for a vacation trip.

Annual East-West Shrine Game Monday

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The East squad appeared loaded with talent today for the sixth annual East-West Shrine All-Star game, scheduled for 9 p. m. CST Monday in Municipal Auditorium.

Only once, in 1955, has the East won the charity game, but this year squad members included All-Americans Lennie Rosenblyth of North Carolina and Grady Wallace of South Carolina, plus second team selections Joe Gibbon of Mississippi and Charles Tyra of Louisville.

Joining those four on the squad, to be handled by Frank McGuire of North Carolina, were Dave Smalley of Navy, Gerry Calvert of Kentucky, Vince Cohen of Syracuse, Harv Schmidt of Illinois, Gene Millard of Ohio State and Jim Ashmore of Mississippi State.

Coach Bill Strannigan of Iowa State, who will handle the West squad, has his own star, Gary Thompson, and big Jim Krebs of Southern Methodist. Also on the West team are Gene Elstun of Kansas, Larry Friend of California, Curt Jensen of Utah, Cal Grosscup of Tulane, Rex Eklund of Nebraska, Dick Brott of Denver, Jed D. Meyer, Minnesota, Mel Wright of Oklahoma A&M and George Mehaffey of Texas A&M as an alternate.

Proceeds of the annual All-Star game go to crippled children's hospitals operated by the Shriners.

Berrios, Costa Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Aggressive Miguel Berrios and elusive Carmelo Costa fight tonight at Madison Square Garden in the first elimination bout of the world featherweight title tournament.

The winner of this nationally televised and broadcast NBC 12-rounder will move toward the vacant 126-pound crown.

Berrios, a stocky little Puerto Rican who now lives in New York, is favored at 7-5 to beat the chunky but nimble Costa of Brooklyn because of his persistent attack, his stamina and his ruggedness.

Costa, 22, is rated fourth among world contenders for the title vacated recently by Sandy Saddler because of an injured eye. Berrios, 24, is rated third.

Hawks, Celtics Win Playoff Tilts

By United Press
The Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks, division champions in the National Basketball Association this season, opened their bids for the playoff title Thursday night with easy victories.

The Celtics, sluggish in the first half, came back strong in the late stages of the game to defeat the Syracuse Nationals, 108-90, while the Hawks, paced by little Slater Martin and big Bob Pettit, downed the Minneapolis Lakers, 118-109.

The Eastern series resumes Saturday night at Syracuse, while the Western series resumes Sunday afternoon at St. Louis. The winners of the best-of-five division playoffs meet for the league title.

Speaker for Bull Dog Banquet is Member Basketball Hall of Fame

Ray Hanson, who will be the speaker at the Harrisburg Bull Dog basketball banquet in Bonnell gymnasium at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday, is in Basketball's Hall of Fame.

Mr. Hanson, director of athletics at Western Illinois State college, is a close friend of Harrisburg Coach John Dotson and thus it was able to obtain him as speaker for the local banquet.

This year's banquet will be a public affair and team members are selling banquet tickets for $1.50 each.

Mr. Hanson, born in Minnesota, was an outstanding athlete in high school and college. He has been at Western for 30 years.

He served as head coach of football, basketball and baseball at Western until 1942 when he went on active duty with the United States Marine Corps. Since the war he has been devoting full time to the position of athletic director and head of the Department of Physical Education.

The beautiful Western athletic field, built in 1951, has been named Hanson Field in his honor.

Hanson is co-ordinator of the "Ten Second Rule" in basketball, past president of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletes, and serves on the executive board.

His latest achievement was being named commissioner of baseball to South Africa as well as manager of the amateur baseball team representing the United States, that played 33 games with a perfect record in travelling approximately 45,000 miles.

State Tournament Sidelights

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — State tournament sidelights:

Collinsville's 6-7 center Terry Bethel has made a good start toward setting a new state tournament scoring record for four tournament games. The Kahok ace broke the single tournament game scoring mark in the supersectional against Charleston Tuesday, but it didn't get much notice because, under the new eight-team final set up, the game was not played at Champaign.

Bethel poured in 40 points against Charleston. The old record for a single game was 38 points by Ted Caiazza, of La Grange, in 1953.

Caiazza also holds the four game tournament record of 121 points on individual games of 31-38-27-25.

This year's tournament—so far, at least—offers the first possibility in history for a championship final game between two undefeated teams. Elgin goes into the quarter-finals with a 27-0 mark, while Collinsville is 32-0. This is Friday, though, and it could be a long way to Saturday and the meeting between two perfect record teams. Only three undefeated teams have won the state title: Taylorville with 45 straight in 1944; Mount Vernon in 1950 and La Grange in 1953.

Here are the nicknames of the eight teams in today's quarter-finals:

Herrin Tigers, Collinsville Kahoks, Ottawa Pirates, Quincy Notre Dame Raiders, Galesburg Silver Streaks, Evanston Wildkats, Elgin and Champaign are both "the Maroons."

The quarter-final field includes three former state champions—Elgin, 1924 and 1925; Champaign, 1946; and Galesburg, 1913. The winner of the first state championship tournament 50 years ago, Peoria Central, was eliminated in the sectionals this year.

Champaign holds the record for most appearances in the state tournament. This year is the 21st time the tournament field has included the Maroons.

Elgin, led by 6-6 center Chuck

Kansas, North Carolina Favored In NCAA Semifinals

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — North Carolina's No. 1 rated Tar Heels and the University of Kansas today were installed as favorites by oddsmakers in the NCAA basketball championship semi-finals scheduled tonight at Municipal Auditorium.

The local odds were that North Carolina would top Michigan State by five points in the first game beginning at 8:30 EST and that Kansas, the No. 2 rated team would beat San Francisco by nine points in the second game starting at 10:30 EST.

Should North Carolina and Kansas meet in the national championship Saturday night, the local oddsmakers favored Kansas by two points.

The four teams participating in the championships, rated perhaps as the finest four teams ever to enter the finals, arrived here Thursday and held workouts at the auditorium.

Castle to Rule On Details of Expense Accounts

SPRINGFIELD — Atty. Gen. Latham Castle today was studying his own expense account to provide an official opinion on just how detailed it should be.

State Auditor Elbert S. Smith said he had asked Castle for an official opinion on the question of whether state officials are itemizing their expense accounts as required by law, and that he is using Castle's expense account as an example.

He said there was no question of Castle's expense account being excessive, and that he merely wanted to know if it had been filed in sufficient detail.

Former Auditor Lloyd Morey

first brought up the question of itemizing expense accounts last year when he sent a number of expense vouchers back to state officials and demanded that they itemize their expenses as required by law.

It had been the custom of elected state officials to file a monthly voucher listing simply one flat sum for expenses.

But since Morey demanded more detail, Castle, Gov. William G. Stratton and other state officials have itemized their expense accounts by listing amounts for food, lodging, travel and miscellaneous, but not going into any more detail.

For the United States as a whole, the number of general hospital beds increased by 200 per cent from 1909 to 1955, according to a recent report of Health Information Foundation.

Navy Jet Breaks Records

LOS ANGELES — A twin-jet Navy atom bomber streaked across Los Angeles International Airport Thursday night to break both the New York to Los Angeles speed record and the transcontinental round trip record.

The A3D Skywarrior touched down at 9:47:39 p. m. EST to clip nine minutes, 28 seconds off the old mark of five hours, 24 minutes and 26.64 seconds for the New York to Los Angeles flight.

The plane piloted by Cmdr. Dale W. Cox Jr., of Spirit Lake, Idaho, failed to break the Los Angeles to New York record of three hours, 44 minutes and 53 seconds by about 15 minutes but cut one

Ask Damages for Turkeys Killed by Dog

Roy and Blanche Lane seek $464 damages and costs from Leo and Helen Anderson in a lawsuit filed yesterday in county court.

It says the defendants owned a dog which attacked and killed tur-
